

2 Policy Developments Employers Need To Know, Law360 ft. Keith Gutstein

Keith Gutstein, Esq., Co-managing Partner in the Long Island office of Kaufman Dolowich & Voluck, LLP, was quoted in an article written by Vin Gurrieri for Law360.

Law360 (April 12, 2019, 8:18 PM EDT) — Congressional Democrats led by Sen. Patty Murphy, D-Wash., have floated a sweeping proposal to overhaul civil rights law to give victim of workplace harassment more resources to step forward, and New York City lawmakers recently barred employers from screening job applicants for marijuana use.

New York City is set to scrap prehire marijuana tests. The bill now awaits the signature of Mayor Bill de Blasio. It will take effect a year after it is signed into law.

Click on the link below to read the entire Law360 article including Keith Gutstein's comments.