

A Marriage of Compatibility, Risk and Insurance ft. Ivan Dolowich

By Susannah Levine
(September 2, 2014)

Employers must select the TPA best equipped to manage employees' health and well-being.

For all that modern client and third-party administrator (TPA) interaction depends on technology, compliance expertise, analytics and efficient claims administration, the most important factor in its success is still the partners' compatibility, industry experts agree.