

Anne Myers quoted extensively in "Marijuana Insurance — The Next Frontier," MainStreet

(February 27, 2014)

NEW YORK (MainStreet) — Businesses involved in the marijuana market are facing few options when it comes to insuring their livelihood.

Premiums are higher for dispensaries and other cannabis businesses compared to other more traditional companies because of a lack of competition or alternatives, said Derek Peterson, CEO of Terra Tech (TRTC), a public company based in Irvine, Calif. which manufactures agricultural equipment.