

CCPA amendments expand scope to neural data, AI systems, published 1/3/2025 in the Daily Journal, by attorneys Katherine S. Catlos and Nadine Nasnas

Katherine S. Catlos and Nadine Nasnas of Kaufman Dolowich LLP weigh in on California's latest privacy law amendments, which impose new obligations on businesses handling consumer data, expanding protections to cover neural monitoring, AI systems and data transfers.

They discuss in-depth what employers need to know to comply with SB 1223, AB 1008 and AB 1824, all of which took effect on January 1, 2025.

Subscribers can read more at the full article.