

Could Ivermectin Battle Be a Harbinger of More Lawsuits Over Hospital's COVID-19 Treatment Standards?, Law.com, quotes KD's Abbye Alexander, Chris Tellner, November 15, 2021

As more and more judges ponder the merits of an off-patent drug with a purported ability to treat COVID-19, some health care lawyers are worried about a future where courts are ready to second-guess physicians whose patients don't get what they want. Subscribers can read full article at the link below.