

Kaufman Dolowich Named to U.S. News & World Report's 2025 Best Companies to Work For: Law Firms List, 3-13-25

Kaufman Dolowich LLP is pleased to announce the firm has been named to U.S. News & World Report's 2025 list of "Best Companies to Work For" among U.S. law firms.

"It is an honor to be recognized among the best law firms to work for," says Michael Kaufman, Firmwide Co-Managing Partner. "It underscores our commitment to fostering a culture where our team feels valued and supported, enabling them to thrive in an environment that prioritizes respect, growth and mutual success."

The 2025 "Best Companies to Work For: Law Firms" compilation, which highlights the country's top law firms for employees and job seekers, builds upon U.S. News' renowned Best Companies to Work For list. Kaufman Dolowich was assessed based on several factors that analyzed how individual firms meet the needs and expectations of their employees compared to their competitors.

Key metrics measured among law firms included quality of pay and benefits; work/life balance and flexibility; job and company stability; physical and psychological comfort; belongingness and esteem; and career opportunities and professional development.

Kaufman Dolowich ranked high on the scorecard in several of these areas including stability and work life balance.

"We understand that our greatest assets are our team members," says Ivan Dolowich, Firmwide Co-Managing Partner. "We continually explore new ways to improve the experience of our valued colleagues, cultivating a workplace that focuses on their well-being, job satisfaction, and professional development."

Founded in 1933, U.S. News & World Report is the global leader in quality rankings that empower consumers, business leaders and policy officials to make better, more informed decisions about important issues affecting their lives and communities.
