

Privacy Policy

Thank you for visiting the website of the law firm Kaufman Dolowich. This privacy policy explains how information about visitors to this website is collected and used. By using this site, you consent to the following terms:

Information Collected by this Website

You may visit this site and learn about Kaufman Dolowich anonymously. Although we use a website visitor statistics program that compiles information about visitors to this site (such as browser type, pages accessed, duration of visit, and other usage statistics), that program does not identify you. The program also collects your IP address, but this information generally does not reveal your identity. This website does not use “cookies” – small files that are sent to your browser and stored on your hard drive to record how and when you use a site.

Kaufman Dolowich collects personally identifiable information about you only if you voluntarily provide it to us by requesting further information from us.

How the Information is Used

If you choose to provide us with personally identifiable information, we will use such information to respond to your inquiry. If, in the future, our business changes form — for example, by merger or partnership — we may transfer your personally identifiable information to their reorganized business entity. We will also disclose your personally identifiable information if we reasonably believe we are required to do so by law, regulation or other government authority.

Links

This website may contain links to third parties' websites. If you choose to visit a third party's site, please be aware that the third party's privacy policy, and not that of Kaufman Dolowich will govern your activities and any information you disclose while visiting the third party's site.

Security

Because any personally identifiable information you submit to Kaufman Dolowich online is purely voluntary and should not be of a particularly sensitive nature, we employ standard security measures and do not use special encryption methods at this time. For more information about communicating with us please refer to our Terms of Use.

Policy Changes

Kaufman Dolowich reserves the right to change this privacy policy and will post any revisions on this website. Your continued use of this website will be subject to the then-current privacy policy.

Questions & Updates

If you have any questions or suggestions about these privacy practices, or you wish to update or correct any personally identifiable information that you have chosen to provide to us please feel free to contact us in any of the ways explained below.

How to Contact Kaufman Dolowich

We handle matters throughout the United States, and new clients are always welcome. For more information or to make an appointment, please contact us either by:

Telephone: (516) 681-1000

E-mail: info@kaufmandolowich.com

We can be reached by telephone Monday through Friday, 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. EST. You may also use this form. Form submissions are answered Monday through Friday during the work day. Please remember that for us to become your attorneys, we must first have a written attorney-client agreement signed by both of us, so please do not email any confidential information at this point. After we have reached an agreement with you, we can then exchange information freely. We look forward to helping you.