

Ruling Makes ADA Visual Web Access Claims A Bit Clearer, DAILY JOURNAL, written by Katherine Catlos, Esq., October 7, 2021

An Americans with Disability Act (ADA) web-access case went to trial, and the results rested on a creative and legally accurate jury instruction. Typically, trial counsel avoid experimenting with jury instructions because it enhances the opportunity for a reversal on appeal. Daily Journal subscribers can read the full article at the link below.